
2008 NATIONAL SENIOR PLAYER RANKINGS

Super Quarterback Drew Allen is one of the most sensational athletic quarterbacks that I have seen this season. He is 6-5, can throw it 70 and can run a 4.6. He will play in the 2009 All-American Bowl Game Classic!

2008 SENIOR NATIONAL RANKINGS

COVINGTON, Louisiana - This is our early 2008 look at the MAX EMFINGER 2008 TOP 300 SENIOR PLAYMAKERS in the country for the Football Year of 2008 and the Graduating Class of 2009. I will constantly update this TOP 300 as new and current information is obtained. I have started to put all of the players into the recruiting database, but remember, I have just started so check back each day for additions and updates.

JULY 21, 2008 MASSIVE UPDATE

NATIONAL TOP 300 SENIOR PLAYMAKERS

A VERY SPECIAL NOTE: This is our initial look at the Top Senior Football Playmakers in the country for the 2008 football season. I will be adding more players as I find them after watching them play in games, highlight film, or from one of our Football Combines!

WHAT IS THE ASSET RATING SYSTEM?

ASSET stands for Agility, Strength, Stamina, Explosiveness, and Technique. These are the essential tools for superior athletic performance in any competitive event. This new ASSET RATING SYSTEM identifies overall athletic ability and will be used by top college coaches and trainers around the country as an initial indicator of an athletes potential on the football field. This Formula is based on each individual position and is based on a Medium Standard for that position.

Forty-Yard Dash – The Forty-yard dash (40) is a test of raw speed, stamina, and explosiveness. It is a test of pure speed from Point A to Point B. Technique is also very important. This is a very good test of measure for all skill players who may have to run 40-yards within the course of a football game.

Vertical Jump – The Vertical Jump (VJ) is a test of leg explosiveness, power, and quickness. Technique is also very important in this test. This test is a good measure for wide receivers, cornerbacks, and safeties.

Pro-Agility Shuttle – The Pro-Agility Shuttle (SH) is a test of agility, speed, lateral quickness, change of direction, and overall body coordination. Technique is also very important in this test. An athlete should be able to do this test in about two seconds faster than he can run a forty-yard dash.

Standing Broad Jump – The Standing Broad Jump (SBJ) is a test that is similar to the Vertical Jump in that it measures how far you can jump instead of how high. It is also similar to the long jump in track, except the player will not get a running start, but rather jump from a standing position. It measures explosion, power, quickness, and lower body strength. This test is a great measure for running backs, linemen, tight ends, and linebackers.

Bench Press – The Bench Press (BP) is a test of pure strength and stamina. The test measures how many bench press reps an athlete can do of 185 pounds. Technique is also very important. This test is a good measure for every player on the football field although quarterbacks, wide receivers and cornerbacks do not need to excel in this event.

Ten Yard Dash – The Ten-Yard Dash (10) is a test of quickness and explosiveness. Every player on the football field will run a 10-yard sprint during the course of a football game and this test is especially good for offensive and defensive linemen.

The ASSET RATING SYSTEM Formula gives us the following Ratings and Rankings:

1,200 Plus = SUPER COMBINE FREAK
1,076 - 1,199 = High Division I and NFL Prospect
975 – 1,075 = Mid Division I College Prospect
925 – 974 = College Prospect
850 – 924 = Sleeper College Prospect

1,300 - 1,201 = NATIONAL TOP 100
1,200 - 1,101 = NATIONAL TOP 200
1,100 - 1,001 = NATIONAL TOP 300
